THE GREEKS.

Athens suffers from an excess of intellectual activity. The city is overstocked with brains. Its hands are idle. Greece has no great manufactories; it has no system of roads. Among the many failures of King Otho's reign, perhaps none was more injurious than his failure to provide any means of ready intercommunication between the provinces of Greece. Of course the topography of Greece—her mountain ranges and deep-reaching gulfs and bays—renders the task of road-building a difficult one. But national unity and material prosperity can not come without good roads. To-day all Greece has but five miles of railroad, and hardly more than fifty miles of good carriage roads. Finding no outlet in the development of the country's material resources, all the energy of the marvellously active Greek mind has been turned to trade, to study, and to politics; and chiefly to politics, always a passion with the Athenian. With a territory but three-fifths as great as that of New York, with a population of nearly two millions, with universal suffrage, and with a monarchy so limited that the government is in reality a democracy in the administration of internal affairs, the Greek nation of to-day devotes ten times too much energy to governing itself. This concentration of force within narrow limits begets heat at Athens. Under such pressure the political friction is something enormous. Athens supports from thirty to forty newspapers. Political clubs are more numerous than in classic days, and as influential.—Every man of prominence has his newspaper, his club of personal followers, his petty party. When the death of Delegeorges, ex-Prime Minister, was announced on the street to a group of Athenian gentlemen with whom I was talking, the first remark was, "Ah, now Kurio So-and-So" (naming a politician of little influence) "will form a party, will he not?" Room for one more aspirant to office, with his organized clique of followers, was the argument.

Salaries for public services are of course pitifully low. Criticism of all official acts, and of every measure advocated by the government, is bitter and ceaseless. This spirit of criticism is not merely a healthful concern for the public welfare; it is the constant effort to induce a public, ever prone to change its political leaders, so to clamor as to oust the "ins" out, and to give to other men a chance at what must be for them, too, a brief tenure of power.—Acrimonious attacks upon men and motives abound. The newspapers give room to angry opponents for virulent personal diatribes against political rivals. The irrepressible life and mental activity of the nation preys upon itself.

Give Greece a mission; let her hope for that influence in the readjustment of power after Turkey's dissolution (if the chronic "sick man" is indeed soon to die) which justly belongs to her as the most intelligent, the most enterprising, the most highly civilized race of the Levant; extend her boundaries, as we hope the great powers will soon do; give but a gleam of distant hope to such enthusiastic patriots as joined the club some time since organized at Athens by Makrakes, a shrewd political and religious agitator, which professes for its object to place Prince Constantine, King George's eldest son, on the throne of all Greece at Constantinople—and the truly great qualities of this wonderful race, which were proved to be still hers by the gallant, unflinching heroism displayed in her struggle for independence, but which have suffered a temporary eclipse since that struggle closed, will once more be displayed to a world which has so often been inspired by the words and deeds of the Greeks of ancient times.—Harper's Magazine for May.

A celebrated fish has just died in France, being none other than "Fanny," one of the fattest carps in the lake at Fontainebleau. Fanny is believed to have been born in the reign of Francis I., and therefore at the time of her death was nearly 400 years old. She was perfectly well known to all the Parisians who resort to the Park, and was accustomed every afternoon to show herself to the eyes of an admiring crowd and accept crumbs of bread from their hands, as she had done in times past from the hands of most of the Royal rulers of France.

The New York Court of Appeals has decided that a watch is not jewelry. "It is not carried or used as a jewel or ornament, but as a timepiece or chronometer, an article of ordinary wear by most travelers of every class, and of daily and hourly use by all. It is useful and necessary to the guest in his room as out of it, in the night as the daytime. It is carried for use and convenience, and not for ornament."

Queer Things in War.

Men might write for a hundred years of the curious phases of war and still leave the subject fresh. War is a lottery, and the prizes are shot, shell, wounds and death. Tens of thousands of men served four years in the late war and returned home. In a thousand cases recruits were killed within twenty-four hours after reaching the front. War's missiles are no respecters of persons, and the soldier who fights an all day's battle without receiving a wound may be killed in his tent at night by the accidental discharge of a musket.

At the battle of Franklin, the first shell sent from the first Union field-piece to open fire killed twenty-six Confederates. The next five shells from this same gun either failed to explode or cleared the advancing lines. In this same fight the horse of a Confederate Colonel was cut square in two by a shot and the rider escaped unhurt.—Ten minutes after a Union officer behind the earthworks stumbled and fell forward on the ground and broke his neck.

In one of the assaults on Fort Wagner, in Charleston harbor, the iron-clad fleet, assisted by land batteries numbering twenty-seven heavy cannon, bombarded the fort for two hours before killing a single soldier. From seventy to eighty heavy cannon were hurling three tons of iron into the fort each minute, and yet no one was hurt until over 300 tons of "solid death" had been wasted. As an offset to this, witness the work of a single solid shot thrown from a Federal gunboat on the lower Mississippi. A Confederate flying battery was just taking position, and one piece had already opened fire. The Federal shot was directed at this piece. The big mass of iron struck the six-pounder square on the muzzle and upset gun and carriage. A piece of the muzzle weighing about twenty pounds was broken off, and this flew to the left and killed two men.—Three men were wounded by smaller fragments or flying splinters. The big shot next struck and exploded a caisson, killing three more men and wounding two others. From the caisson it turned to the right, killed a horse, smashed the wheel of a field-piece and crushed the leg of a sergeant to a bloody mass. That one shot so disorganized the battery that it limbered up and dashed away to cover.

While heavy ordnance is necessary in reducing forts and earthworks, it is doubtful if there was any profit in the work of the big guns carried by the iron-clads on the river. When McClellan fell back he had the cover of gunboats, and some writers have claimed that their fire saved his army from capture. So far as the Confederate records show the loss by the hundreds of enormous shells thrown over the heads of our troops into the woods by these great cannon did not amount to a hundred men. They were a new thing then, and the effect of the awful crash and tremendous explosion was demoralizing on the troops in line.

A Union gunboat on the White river threw three shells into a Confederate camp, killed nearly fifty men and routed a force of 800. Within a week after that event the Confederate General Shelby planted four pieces of flying artillery on the levee within 400 feet of the same gunboat at anchor, and without the least cover for men or guns, kept up the fight for over an hour, or until the gunboat backed out of it and steamed away. The chances in a lottery can be figured down fine, and a certain per cent of escapes is allowed in a steamboat explosion, but he who goes to war has nothing to console him. He may receive a dozen bullets and live on, or the first one may be fatal. He may ride in the wildest charge unhurt, and he may be killed by a stray bullet beside his camp-fire.—Detroit Free Press.

The persistency with which English writers and printers cling to the use of the vowel u, in such words as parlor and favor, was illustrated forcibly a few days ago in the Bank of England, where a chancery draft was refused payment, because, in stating that it was in favor of so and so, the drawer had spelled the word "favor" without a u.

An arid old maiden lady in one of our neighboring towns, arose in temperance meeting a few evenings ago and read an original poem beginning "The lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine." It brought tears to the eyes of the young men present.—Rockland Courier.

A very beautiful mineral—to which the name of "hiddenite" has been given—was discovered not long ago in North Carolina by W. E. Hidden. It is the first purely American gem found, and is very valuable.

An Irishman, ridiculed for starting off on horseback with only one spur, replied very justly: "If I get one side of the horse moving, I'll trust the other side."

"Do you drink?" said a temperance reformer to a beggar who had implored alms of him. "Yes, thank you," returned the candid pauper; "where shall we go?"

How Grant Learned to Smoke.—Gen. Grant has explained how he became attached to a cigar. When at West Point he tried to join other cadets in smoking, but the experiment did not agree with him, and he did not form the habit, nor did he begin to smoke much until he began fighting the battles of the war. Engaging in all the early contests, he found a cigar of some service in relieving mental strain upon him, and when a battle was in progress he often had a cigar in his mouth, but still he was not an inveterate smoker. On other occasions he probably did not smoke as much as most men of modern indulgence. To his surprise he found the newspapers making a point of his smoking, and very soon boxes of excellent cigars began to arrive at his headquarters from all parts of the country. There were so many that all officers attached to his immediate service were supplied, and with such a supply he assisted in sampling until, as the campaign went on, he enjoyed his cigar on all occasions, and has since smoked as much as the best of men. He thinks the newspapers influenced him a great deal on the tobacco question.

The obnoxious property in some of our soils known as "alkali," is the carbonate of soda. If we add sulphate of lime (gypsum) to the soil, this property will be neutralized and the sodic will remain as a fertilizer, for no plant grows which does not have either soda or potash in its composition. As we irrigate our soils, we shall learn more of the necessity of using lime. The great amount of water which will be evaporated from the surface will continue to increase the deposit of alkali. The moisture of the subsoil holds the carbonate of soda in solution, and as that moisture is evaporated from the surface the soda is deposited. Where dry, sandy land, noted for its freedom from alkali, has had the water backed up into the subsoil by the filling up of the channel of the adjacent stream, so that water comes within one or two feet of the surface, five years were sufficient to give a thick coating of alkali.—Visalia Delta.

One Way to Decide a Post Office Appointment.—Murat Halstead, who is now in Washington, tells a correspondent how Abraham Lincoln, when President, settled a controversy over a postmastership. Two men were in the field for the office. Petition after petition, delegation after delegation hastened to Washington. The two seemed to be equally qualified for the place. Finally the patience of Mr. Lincoln gave out, and he said to his secretary: "This matter has got to end somehow. Bring a pair of scales." The scales were brought. "Now put in all the petitions and letters in favor of one man and see how much they weigh, and then weigh the other fellow's pile." It was found that one bundle was three-quarters of a pound heavier than the other. "Make out an appointment at once for the man who has the heaviest papers," said Mr. Lincoln, and it was done.

In the San Bernardino Valley nearly every farm is inclosed with a close line of cotton-wood trees. These trees are topped every three or four years, at a distance of eight or ten feet from the ground, and the limbs thus removed from the tree are cut up into firewood. The trees are not injured by the operation, but immediately put out a new top of stronger growth each time, and in two or three years are ready to yield another crop of cordwood. Thousands of cords of wood are secured annually in this manner. The trees are planted so thick that they make excellent wind-break, and they afford a grateful shade during the heat of summer. Considering the high prices of wood, and the ease with which it can be raised, we do not think it would be a bad idea for those living on irrigated lands to surround their places with cotton-wood hedges or fences.—Fresno Expositor.

A cattle drover near Chicago owns a collie that is said to be a marvel. One day a bet was made that he would take charge of thirty cattle, then in a car, all being unknown to the dog, as soon as unloaded; that he would drive them to his owner's place, which was distant two miles; that although it would be necessary to drive the animals among other cattle on the way the dog would neither permit one of the strange cattle to join his drove nor would he allow one of his thirty to stray from its companions. The dog won!

A good way to keep the earth moist in a hanging basket without the trouble of taking it down, is to fill a bottle with water and put in two pieces of yarn, leaving one end on the earth. Suspend the bottle just above the basket and allow the water to drip; this will keep the earth moist enough for winter and save a great deal of time and labor.

M. Rouger has described to the French Academy a violent storm at Laigle on September last. Between 9:30 and 11 p. m. there were at least 4,700 flashes of lightning; sometimes there were as many as three flashes per second. The thunder was almost continuous, like a kind of buzzing, interrupted by heavy rollings.

THE BRIDGEPORT AND COLEVILLE MAIL.

Several petitions have, from time to time been forwarded to the Postmaster-General, asking for a tri-weekly mail between Bridgeport and Carson via Coleville, in Antelope Valley, but, so far as we can learn, no action has yet been taken by the Department in regard to this important matter. As the mail now runs, a letter addressed to Coleville, leaves Bridgeport and is sent to Bodie, thence is sent out of the county and State to Carson, Nev., and is then sent back over the same route to Hoy's Station, 15 miles from Coleville, where it must remain until Tuesday, when the mail contractor drives down from Coleville for it—thus making a horseshoe route of 195 miles to reach a post office only 35 miles distant from the County Seat of Mono! If a letter leaves this town or Bodie on Sunday it will reach Hoy's "in time to be too late" to reach Coleville on the following Tuesday, and must remain there one week. In fact the people of Coleville and Antelope Valley have repeatedly written to the Eastern States—as far East as New Hampshire, and received answers before they could get answers to letters to this town under the same date. This is all wrong. There is a large population in Antelope Valley dependent on the Coleville Postoffice for their mail matter, and they are entitled to greater postal facilities than they have been compelled to put up with. They have a right to a more frequent intercourse with their County Seat, through the medium of the United States mail, than once a week, or, we might say, once in two weeks. And again, the people of Bridgeport and Bodie have also a great interest in an increased postal service in the county. We venture the assertion that the Coleville office pays more to the Government than all the four offices in our adjoining county, Alpine, which has a tri-weekly mail, and the Government would not entertain a proposition to reduce that service; and why should Postmaster-General James hesitate to increase our mail service and thereby increase the business of the offices on the route. We hope that a tri-weekly mail contract will be let for the Antelope route from Bridgeport to Carson. The business and social interests of the people require it.

"Trouble Commences."

It is believed that agreeably with the provisions of the Constitution, which prohibits an extension of the terms of county officers, Governor Perkins will in due time issue his proclamation, calling an election for county officers this coming Fall. The officers then elected will have but one year to serve, as next year the regular "even year" election takes place. The fact is, the Governor should have ordered election last year—an "even" year, and the officers would have been elected as the Constitution intended they should be. The editor of the Salinas Index is a State Senator, and that paper says:

"The election law passed at the late session of the Legislature does not, as some suppose, settle the question as to whether we are to have an election for county officers this fall or not. It simply provides that there shall be a general election in 1882, and that county officers, except Assessors and School Superintendents shall hold office two years. This was done in order to bring future elections on the even numbered years. No provision is made for an extension of the terms of the present incumbents, there being no reference to it whatever in the law. We have good authority for believing that the Governor will issue a proclamation for an election this fall, in which case the successful candidates will hold office only one year."

The "good authority" is probably the Governor, himself. The "ins" and "outs" will have a heap of trouble on their minds until this question is definitely settled by the Governor. In the meantime they can lay their pipe and be ready to make their connections, if necessary.

A well-known physician in Washington declares that Blaine is suffering from Bright's disease of the kidneys, and will never be a well man. The worst symptom is the fact that his ears have bleached out as white as his face. This only comes when the disease is so far advanced as to render recovery almost hopeless. Blaine has the same nervousness and disinclination to be regarded sick that marked the manner of Carpenter when the same dread disease was driving him rapidly to the grave.

San Diego is becoming quite a focus for seal hunting. It is estimated that this industry was worth $100,000 to the place during the past year.

General Hatch lately attached the property of the Nevada and Oregon Railroad Company for a debt of $14,000, arising from the expenses of surveying.

The wool clip of California in 1870 was 17,810,566 pounds, valued at $2,493,479. In 1880 it was 46,074,154 pounds, valued at $10,136,313.

Nearly 10,000 immigrants arrived at New York last week—mostly Germans.

The last two steamers brought 2,000 Chinamen to San Francisco.

Little snow in the Sierra, and no late floods are expected.

BODIE AND RAILROADS.

Great dissatisfaction exists in Bodie in regard to the outcome of the completion of the Carson and Colorado Railroad to Hawthorne. It is supposed that increased facilities for the transportaion of passengers and freight decreases rates of freight and fare, but it appears that in this case it is the reverse, and instead of a decrease there is an increase—an evidence of progress backward. Bodie is a secondary consideration in the building of this road, and the Company evidently contemplate bleeding that town to aid its construction to its objective point. We fail to perceive where the railroad, as managed, is of any particular benefit to Mono county. To be sure, seventy miles stage travel and six hours time are dispensed with between Carson and Bodie; but between Bridgeport only twenty miles are saved, and that at the expense of eighteen hours more time. As regards freights, there is a growing inclination to ignore the C. and C road and team direct from Reno, from which point teamsters offer to freight for two cents per pound. It is expensive teaming on the Hawthorne grade. That route comprises three toll roads, with high rates of toll; has too short curves for heavy teams, and the springs and water courses having been monopolized by the Railroad Company, water has to be paid for; hence three-quarters of a cent per pound is the fixed rate for freight. In regard to passenger traffic, passengers by the Antelope route were last year in Bodie two hours ahead of the time that is made by rail, and at thirty-three per cent. less fare. In the near future, however, Mono will be relieved by the advent of the California narrow-gauge railroad, which will be pushed from Oakland to Dexter Wells, via Bridgeport and Bodie, with the utmost dispatch. That the building of this road is a foregone conclusion, we cite the facts that last week 260,000 feet of lumber were landed at Oakland for the Company, and President Davis and the Board of Directors visited Modesto last week and assured the citizens that the road would be there to move this season's crops. This road will be 217 miles shorter to Bodie than via the C. P. and C. and C. roads. Without the annoyance of changing cars, and a 40-mile stage ride, passengers can make the trip to Bodie in less time than to Reno. Under such circumstances the California Company will have about the entire traffic between this section and San Francisco.

THE CALIFORNIAN.—The Californian for May is at hand, and many of its articles will be of special interest to its California readers, and among these we may mention "The Monroe Doctrine and the Isthmian Canal," "'49 and '50; "Is the Jury System a Failure?—this will be of interest to its Mono readers just at this period; "California under the Friars;" "Twelve Days on a Mexican Highway;" "Southern California;" and then we have "The Poetry of Theophile Gautier;" "Ruby-throat" a poem; "Good-for-Naught;" "Coronation," a poem; "The Teachers at Farwell;" "The Parish Primaries;" "Parted," a poem; "What is a University?" "The State vs. The Christian University;" "A Clouded Summer;" "A Barbary Coast City;" Science and Industry, Outcroppings, etc.—an interestiug number. The Californian Publishing Co. ILLUSTRATED SCIENTIFIC NEWS.—We have received the April number of this interesting and popular monthly. It contains a fine engraving and description of the late Emperor of Russia's steam yacht Livadia; a series of views illustrating wood working attachments for foot lathes; and views of various other mechanical and scientific inventions. Published by Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York.

PUBLIC PRINTER.—Congress at its next session will be called on to elect a Public Printer under the new Administration. S. P. Rounds, an old war horse, we may say, of the profession, and who has the most extensive printing establishment in the country at Chicago, is named for the position, and we presume the printers throughout the country would be glad to have him elected, and we should be glad to have Congressman Pacheco give him his support.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE FAIR.—The sixteenth annual Fair of the Mechanics' Institute will open in San Francisco on the 2d of August and close on Saturday, September 3d. The coming fair promises to be the most complete exposition of the mechanical and agricultural resources of California and the Pacific States and Territories ever held by the Society.

Reports from Altar, Sonora, says that there is a large influx of Eastern capitalists and prospectors. The antimony mines are showing large bodies of ore, rich in silver, and averaging 72 per cent. in antimony.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

TRIAL OF HAWKINS.—The trial of Thomas Hawkins for the murder of Henry Robbins, in this town on the the 2d of November last, was commenced at ten o'clock on Thursday morning in the Superior Court, Department No. 2, Hon. M. P. Wiggin, Judge. The prisoner was brought into Court by Under Sheriff Massey. Hawkins seemed to be in good spirits, and was very watchful of the proceedings. The jurors were called, and, out of a venire of sixty, only eighteen names were put into the box, the balance of the 34 returned by the Sheriff having been excused by the Judge for good cause After emptying the box, only 5 jurors having been obtained, the Sheriff was ordered to summon 50 additional jurors, after which the Court was adjourned until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The prosecution is being conducted by District Attorney Parker and John A. McQuaid, and the defense by Kittrell & Owen. The special venire of fifty jurymen, returned yesterday, was exhausted at noon to-day. A special venire of 30 was ordered, returnable at 9¼ o'clock on Tuesday morning next, to which time the case was continued. Only eight jurymen have been sworn.

A DIFFERENCE.—Justice Phlegar, of Bodie, sentenced a man to 150 days in the county jail for selling liquor to Indians. In the U. S. District Court, at San Francisco, last week, Judge Hoffman sentenced a man for selling liquor to Indians in San Bernardino county. The sentence was one day in the Los Angeles jail and a fine of one dollar. Judge Hoffman paid the fine, and money was freely contributed to relieve the prisoner's necessities. We presume Judge Hoffman's action will accomplish as much in the desired direction as though the taxpayers had been punished to the amount of $175 for the support of the prisoner for 150 days. The taxpayers' interests should be placed in the dish of the prisoner when justice in such cases is weighed.

EXCURSIONISTS.—This week several excursion parties from Bodie have visited Bridgeport and been hospitably entertained by our citizens, and several levees in their honor have been held by Judge Wiggin.—About forty well known citizens of that place arrived about noon yesterday and, as in duty bound, at 2 o'clock paid their respects to the Judge in a body and presented the "regrets" of a number of his Bodie friends, who would have been "so glad" to have been of the happy throng, but their "arduous duties" as members of the Bodie Fire Department prevented their attendance

INTEREST TAKEN.—The San Francisco Fire Insurance Underwriters will be gratified that a very lively interest is being taken in the Bodie fire department. We fear, however, that the members of that department are not as efficient in attending to fire duty as they are in preparing affidavits for the perusal of our Judges when summoned as jurors, as a few days ago, when the department was ordered out for a drill, one company had only three men out.

OPENED.—The usual pugilistic "tiffs" incident to the opening of Spring have commenced, and this week has witnessed several encounters, but we have heard of no funerals as yet. The climate of Bridgeport seems to have an exhilerating effect on the sluggish blood of the Bodieite who tarries in our town a day or two; and even unto the staid Bridgeporter doth the Springtime impart pugilistic tendencies.

LOCATED.—The Mono County Jail, in all its magnificent proportions, and with its precious living freight, was this week towed from its old moorings to the Court House block and permanently anchored—until a substantial stone bastile is erected. Until it is inclosed by a high fence Massey's eagle eye will watch, and his bloodhound will stand guard, over the guests of the county.

A NURSERY.—Judge Poe, who is the happy possessor of one of the finest farms in Antelope Valley, has a nursery of Lombardy poplars. In due time the Judge will give those desirous of setting out shade trees an opportunity to try their luck with his Lombardy stock. We would much like to see our town graced with more shade trees—and why is it that it is not?

NEW CITIZEN.—On Thursday, in Superior Court, Department No 2, Judge Wiggin admitted to citizenship, upon the testimony of L. Hollander and D. B. Magee, Isaac Frankenburger, of Bodie, a native of Bavaria.

WILL ORATE.—Col. L. L. Alexander, of the May Lundy mine, will deliver the oration at the Odd Fellows celebration at Bodie on Tuesday next. There will be a ball in the evening.

A BLUE STREAK.—There has been a "blue streak" extending from Bodie Bridgeportward this week, arising from the "cussing" indulged in by the jurymen coming a-courting.

JURYMEN.—This morning Judge Wiggin ordered another special venire of 30 jurymen in the Hawkins case, returnable at 9½ o'clock on Tuesday morning.

FIRST PAPER.—On Thursday John Gorevin, a native of Ireland, had his first papers issued by County Clerk Miller.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—The Free Press of Tuesday last says that on Wednesday evening, Frank Allen, a miner at Bodie, had his left hand blown off, and his right one badly mangled, by explosion of giant powder caps, which he had left out to dry when he went to work in the morning. On his return at night he was placing the cover on the box when they exploded with the above result. He was badly hurt otherwise from head to foot. Drs. Walker and Robertson amputated the left hand and the greater portion of the right one—so much that he will not have any use of it and will be a cripple for life.

WAS IT A DODGE?—One of the jurymen summoned in the Hawkins case was being examined yesterday afternoon, when he exhibited a great degree of deafness, putting his hands to his ears to catch the questions, and compelling the counsel to repeat them. Was the man deaf, or was it a resort to an old dodge? It was successful, and the man was dismissed.

PLACES OF RESORT.—In mentioning several places of resort for Monoites this Summer, the Bodie Free Press neglected Bridgeport. Why, good sirs, Bridgeport is the most popular place of resort these days Everybody wants to see the new Court House and occupy a settee in it!

A CONTEMPT CASE.—Quite an interest was yesterday manifested by our citizens in a contempt case in the Superior Court, Department No. 1, Judge Briggs having ordered a citation to issue to General Kittrell to appear before him at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of Court, in having said in the presence of the Court that he had been treated like a dog during the late trial of Stewart vs. Sheriff Taylor. The case was continued till 2 o'clock, when at the General's request another postponement was ordered till 7 o'clock last evening, to enable Hon. P. Reddy, the General's attorney, to arrive from Bodie. At that hour the Court room was crowded. The General stated that his counsel had not arrived and asked for another postponement till 10 o'clock this morning. The Judge not feeling inclined to grant the request, the General made a few remarks in support of his motion for a continuance, at times speaking eloquently, but Judge Briggs was immovable; he had allowed ample time for Mr. Reddy to come from Bodie, and was ready to listen to whatever the General had to say why he should not be punished.—Gen. Kittrell read the citation and moved that the order be vacated, on the grounds that the citation was defective. The motion was overruled, and the General seeing that it was useless to hope for a continuance, stepped toward the Bench and respectfully addressed his Honor, most emphatically disclaiming any intention or desire to insult the Court; that the late trial, his Honor should remember, was an exciting one, and that both the Court and counsel were at times irritated. He spoke very well, and concluded by informing his Honor that he was prepared to receive the judgment of the Court. Judge Briggs then ordered the Clerk to enter a fine of $250 against the General, the same to be paid to the Clerk on or before ten o'clock of the 30th day of April, and if not paid the Sheriff is ordered to imprison him in the County Jail till paid at the rate of $2 a day. The Judge then retired. The General had the entire proceedings recorded in shorthand by Mr. Osborn, the official Reporter. The friends of both the Court and General Kittrell regret this occurrence, and trust it will be the last and only case of the kind that will ever come up in our Courts,

The first number of the Bridgeport Chronicle—that we have seen—arrived at the Herald office last Monday. All right Uncle Robert; bury the little George Washington exterminator goes, and heres after the Herald will be sent in exchange. To forget and forgive is one of the teachings of Divine Revelations.—Esmeralda Herald, 23d.

'Tis well! We have buried the "exterminator" in an ant hill on the Court House block in hopes that the "ants, cousins, etc" will effectually rid us of that sometimes troublesome implement.

PAINTS AND OILS.—We call attention to the advertisement of H. Ward, the pioneer furniture dealer of Bodie, who has added to his business a department for the sale of paints, oils and glass. He has the finest stock of paper-hangings ever brought to Bodie.

ASSAYING.—We invite attention to the advertisement of A. Soderling, the pioneer assayer of Bodie. Mr. Soderling is a competent assayer and a reliable man.

A FIZZLE.—Bodie "Spring" and "Soda" water effervesce too quickly when thrown together in Bridgeport.

ALL THE WEEK.—The trial of Hawkins will probably occupy the attention of Judge Wiggin all of next week.

ONLY EIGHT.—Out of 80 Jurymen summoned in the Hawkins case only eight were accepted after a close examination.

A. B. Stewart, Druggist, Bodie, has received a large stock of garden, flower and field seeds.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—The May number of Harper's Magazine is at hand, and its pages contain ably written and interesting articles suited to the taste of its readers, the musically inclined being favored with a paper on 'Music and Musicians in New York," with portraits of the musical celebrities of the country. The literary admirers of Thomas Carlyle and George Eliot will find much of interest in the articles contributed by Moncure D. Conway and C. Kegan Paul. The artist will find a paper by Mrs. Aaron F. Perry on "Decorative Pottery of Cincinnati," fully illustrated, which is interesting and instructive; and the general reader will find a readable article on "Athens," and the Greeks, with illustrations; "Camp Lou" illustrated; several poems, novels and stories, Editor's Easy Chair; Literary Record and Editor's Drawer. Harper & Brothers, publishers, New York.
